Postal Regulatory Commission/ Envelope Manufacturers Association Foundation Informational Briefing

Washington, DC – Representatives of the Postal Regulatory Commission met with the Envelope Manufacturers Association (EMA) and Foundation leadership at Commission offices on March 10, 2015. The EMA provided a briefing to Commission members on industry and future trends in the area of national and global paper-based communications. Pending (or anticipated) postal matters before the Commission were not discussed, nor did deliberations or decisional discussions take place during this session.

The Postal Regulatory Commission is an independent federal agency that provides regulatory oversight over the U.S. Postal Service to ensure the transparency and accountability of the Postal Service and foster a vital and efficient universal mail system. The Commission is comprised of five Presidentially-appointed and Senate-confirmed Commissioners, each serving terms of six years. The Chairman is designated by the President. In addition to Acting Chairman Robert G. Taub, the other commissioners are Vice Chairman Tony Hammond and Commissioners Mark Acton, Ruth Y. Goldway and Nanci E. Langley.
